

In God We Trust Foundation, Inc.

Policy #13-08: Beneficiary Privacy

January 25, 2013

ADOPTED BY BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Most of the recipients and beneficiaries of our efforts have done quite enough for America and do not deserve to have their privacy invaded in relation thereto or be treated as “poster people” for the sake of additional fund-raising. Therefore, the Organization adheres to the following beneficiary privacy policy:

Beneficiary Privacy

The names of individual persons to whom this Organization provides goods, services or money, will not be publicly released.

Thank-you letters if posted or distributed will have enough of the name, rank, unit, and location information redacted to protect privacy.

Recipients may of course waive this privacy protection. However, this Organization shall not request a waiver either directly or indirectly when distributing goods, services or money, because in most cases our services and donations are in the nature of offset or repayment of a moral debt which is virtually impossible for us to sufficiently deliver given what our beneficiaries and their loved ones have done or are doing for all of us.

Legal Exceptions.

Information must by law be released upon demand or requirement of the following:

- Subpoena or other court order.
- Patriot Act
- Internal Revenue Service